ABOUT MARK AND ARLENE WREN

Since 1986,
Artisan Mark Wren
has created stained glass art in his coastal Downeast Maine studio.
His wife, Arlene, is a Reiki Master and Fiber Artist.

The honeybees that pollinate their vegetable gardens and fruit trees produce an abundance of beeswax
and honey, from which they create small-batch
preservative-free
personal care items and beeswax candles.

BEESWAX & HONEY

Mark and Arlene Wren have two apiaries in Robbinston, Maine; one is located next door to a flower business! In the spring, their bees pollinate and gather nectar and pollen from: maple buds, apple, peach, cherry, raspberry and blackberry blossoms, dandelions and lupines. In the fall they pollinate asters and goldenrod. They harvest the honey once per year, so it has a lovely flavor from all those blossoms.

Wrenovations honey is raw, meaning that it has not been boiled or pasteurized, maintaining all its essential goodness! Many customers with allergies believe it allows them to build up a resistance to allergic reactions by ingesting a bit of honey each day to receive a gradual exposure to all the blossoms they have a reaction to.

Once Mark harvests the honey, Arlene's job begins. She bottles the honey in canning jars (quart, pints and half-pints) because they are recyclable and reusable, and into honey bear bottles (2 ounce, 8 ounce, 12 ounce and 16 ounce sizes) upon request. She also creates wedding favors: honey in attractive bottles along with a bar of her decorative guest soap with an embossed bee on the top, a wedding favor that guests actually want and use!
